PREFACE.

FOR many years it has been my wish to make a list of my books, and the work has often been urged upon me by friends who have seen and used them. More than once such a list has been begun and as often left unfinished, until at last I could only look upon it as the occupation of coming days of ease and leisure; such days, however, as time went by, seemed more and more remote; I therefore decided in 1887 to ask for the help and advice of a trustworthy expert, and happily my friend Mr. G. I. Ellis, of New Bond Street, undertook to carry out my wishes. These volumes are the proof of the care and skill which he has brought to bear upon the work, and for which I render to him my warmest thanks.

The books have nearly all been bought by myself since 1854, and I think that most of the large libraries which have been sold in late years have representatives on my shelves.

It has been the pleasure of my life to collect these books, and in sending out this Catalogue in usum amicorum my hope is that others may in some degree share in that pleasure.

The form which these volumes have taken, and the illustrations of the manuscripts which have been added, are intended to secure (if possible) the fulfilment of this hope.

At my request full cross-references to the names of men whose writings are found in some of the large historical collections have been inserted, and thus an index of names has been furnished to such compilations as the "Monumenta Germaniæ Historica" of G. H. Pertz, the "Patrologiæ Cursus Completus" of the Abbé Migne, and the "Chronicles and Memorials of Great Britain and Ireland," published under the direction of the Master of the Rolls, as well as to the publications of the Chetham, the Surtees, and other Societies. If this be not the most interesting, it will, I think, prove to be the most useful part of the Catalogue. As a rule, collations have not been appended to those books already fully described in available works of reference, such as Brunet, Lowndes, etc., except in cases where variations occur.

Mr. Ellis would (I am sure) not be satisfied if I did not include with my acknowledgments to him my thanks to others who have helped both him and myself. To Mr. F. S. Ellis, of Torquay, for invaluable advice; to Mr. Holdsworth, for unwearying labour and care; to Mr. G. W. Tomlinson, F.S.A., for obtaining and arranging the personal illustration of the volumes; to Mr. Pretorius and Mr. Burt for their execution of the facsimiles; and lastly, to the Proprietors of the Chiswick Press for the excellence of the typographical work, I am deeply indebted.

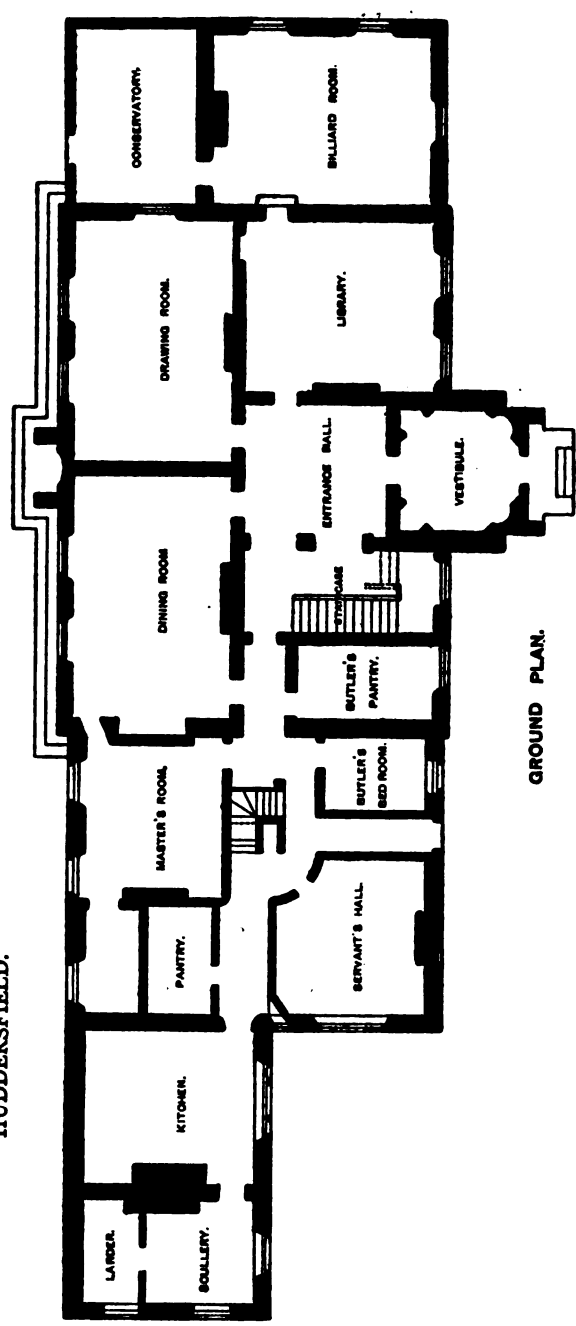

THOMAS BROOKE.

A Plan of the House is hereto appended in order to show the arrangements adopted in the storage of the books.

2. Library.—Manuscripts, History, Patrology, and General Literature.

ALPHABET OF MARY, DUCHESS OF BURGUNDY. A series of 24 beautiful drawings of the letters of the Alphabet from A to Z, executed in pen and ink, and supposed to be by the hand of Mary, Duchess of Burgundy. Each of the drawings forms the first letter of a sentence or proverb written in French; beneath the sentence attached to the letter Z are the words, Per me mariam, forming part of the decoration, and below, by another hand, "A Dam<sup>le</sup> Marie de Bourgongne 1460." On the opposite page, facing the letter Z, is a very beautiful drawing of the Duchess of Burgundy. Above the portrait, to the left, is written, "Marie ducesse de Bourgongne 1460." Bound in 4to, in calf, with the sides of the original 15th century binding inlaid.

The original sides of the binding of this remarkable volume are very valuable specimens of the block binding of the period, the obverse representing the Annunciation, and the reverse The Mass of St. Gregory.

ANTIPHONALE ROMANUM. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM, executed in Italy at the commencement of the xvith century, written upon 147 leaves ( $15\frac{1}{2} \times 11$  inches), with ten splendid miniature paintings, each within a rich ornamental frame border, also numerous illuminated initial letters. Folio. v.

The decorations of this volume are in the richest style of Italian art of the 16th century. The work was executed for a bishop whose arms appear in the borders, and at the base of the first miniature was an inscription, all of which unfortunately has been erased, except the date (M.D.xvi.).

The miniature paintings represent the following subjects: "The Meeting of Mary and Elizabeth," "The Holy Family," "The Crucifixion," "The Entombment," "The Annunciation," "The Last Supper," "The Resurrection," "The Day of Pentecost," "The Host supported by Angels in the Clouds," "The Assumption of the Virgin." The pages opposite to six of the miniatures are occupied by beautifully illuminated frames containing inscriptions.

ANTIPHONARIUM ad usum ecclesiæ SS. Cosmæ et Damiani. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xvth century, of Italian execution. It is written upon 61 leaves ( $23\frac{1}{4} \times 16\frac{1}{4}$  inches), with musical notation, and contains five superb paintings by the great masters ANDREAS and FRANCISCUS DE MANTEGNA, and three other paintings by another hand, also 144 large illuminated initial letters, and decorative borders to several of the pages. Large folio, in wooden boards, covered with leather, protected by brass corner pieces and bosses, and fastened with straps.

*By the hand
great master
London*

This splendid volume was executed for the Church of SS. Cosmas and Damian at Rome, and the paintings for the most part are illustrative of the lives and martyrdoms of those saints. It opens with a large painting, measuring  $8\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  inches, which represents the following story as related by Jacobus de Voragine in the "Legenda Aurea":—"¶ Felix y<sup>e</sup> eight pope after saynt Gregorie dyd do make a noble chirche at Rome of y<sup>e</sup> sayntes Cosme and Damyne. And there was a man whiche deuoutly serued y<sup>e</sup> holy martyrs in that chirche, whom a canker had consumed all his thyne, & as he slepte the holy martyrs Cosme & Damian appered to hym theyr deuoute seruau<sup>t</sup>, bryngynge with them an instrument & oyntment, of whome that one sayd to y<sup>e</sup> other. Where shall we haue flesshe whan we haue cutte away the rotten flesshe to fyll the voyde place. Than that other sayd to hym. There is an ethyopyen y<sup>t</sup> this daye is buryed in y<sup>e</sup> chircheyerde of saynt Peter ad vincula, whiche is yet fresshe, let us bere this thyder, & take we out that ethyopyens flesshe & fyll this place w<sup>al</sup>. And so they fette y<sup>e</sup> thyne of this deed man and cutte of the thyne of the seke man, and so they chaunged that one for that other. And whan the seke man awoke and felte no payne, he put forth his hande and felt his legge without hurte, & than he toke a candell and sawe well that it was not his thyne, but that it was an other. And whan he was well come to hymselfe, he sprange out of his bedde for ioye, and recoüted to all the people how it was happened to hym, & that whiche he had seen in his slepe, and how he was heled. And they sent hastely unto y<sup>e</sup> tombe of y<sup>e</sup> deed man, and foude the thyne of hym cutte of, and that other thyne in the tombe in the stede of his thyne." (Caxton's translation, printed by Wynkyn de Worde in 1527, fo. ccliii.)

This exquisite painting represents the sick man laid in a bed within a room having a casement window high up in the wall. The bed is surrounded by friends and neighbours of the sick man, one of whom lifts the covering over the legs and discloses the miracle which has been wrought. Above the heads of those in the room is a vision of the Almighty with cherubim. The two saints, dressed as Venetian doctors of medicine, are standing in the foreground cleansing their instruments, and on the ground in front is the diseased leg that has been amputated. To the right of the painting, separated from the interior described above by a column of arabesque ornament in slate colour, is a lovely landscape, with the church of St. Pietro in middle distance, outside of which are a number of people gathered round an opened coffin, in which is seen the body of the dead Moor, whose leg was taken to complete the miracle, as mentioned above. The exquisite finish and brilliant colouring of this painting are truly wonderful.

The page is surrounded by a border of rich foliage ornament, which encloses a small miniature at the foot, representing three fawns in a landscape, also a large illuminated letter S.

On folio 15 verso is an illumination ( $6\frac{1}{8} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  inches) by another hand, but of the greatest importance, as affording something beyond the internal evidence of the authorship of these paintings. The illumination consists of a capital letter V in the centre of a panel of rich ornamental design upon a groundwork of burnished gold, and having at the foot the following inscription, in compartments, thus :—

	M G R.
	ANDREAS ET
ORNARVNT	FRANCISCVS D	ARTIBVS
CARTAS.	MANTINEA.	EGREGIIS.
	(Signed)

FR. IACOBUS DE MANTUA, PP. M.

The second painting, representing the Scourging of the Saints Cosmas and Damian, on folio 19 verso ( $8\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  inches), is in all respects equal in merit to the first.

The Saints, having only a cloth about their loins, and bound hand and foot, are laid side by side upon their backs, upon a platform formed of two wide planks resting upon rollers, whilst three executioners scourge them with long birches formed of fine reeds. There are in attendance five soldiers clad in rich armour, and holding long spears or pikes, also a physician and various others. At a window overlooking the scene of the execution are a number of people, including a king and three old men with long white beards; two rich carpets are hanging from the window-sill.

The third painting, fol. 24 verso, represents the decapitation of the two saints, and is enclosed within the space of a large capital letter M ( $6\frac{1}{4}$  inches square). The corpses of the Saints lie upon the ground, the heads severed from the bodies, the executioner and four soldiers standing near. The former, a short, greyheaded man, still holds his scimitar, which is dripping with blood, and gazes into the sky, shading his eyes with his right hand.

The fourth painting, on fol. 27 verso, representing the funeral dirge, is enclosed within the space of a large capital S ( $5\frac{1}{4} \times 5\frac{1}{4}$  inches). The bodies of the Saints, with their heads, are laid upon a bier, with priests and acolytes in attendance.

The fifth painting, "The Entombment," is enclosed within the space of a capital letter O ( $6\frac{1}{2} \times 6$  inches).

The remaining miniatures are by an inferior hand, probably executed by Jacobus de Mantua, the illuminator of the initial letters. They represent the following subjects:—

6. The Assumption of the Virgin Mary.
7. The Birth of the Virgin.
8. Benedictine Nuns worshipping the Virgin and Infant Jesus.

MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xivth century, written by an English scribe upon 90 leaves (9½ × 6¼ inches), and ornamented with illuminated bordered initials. Sm. folio. o. c.

A very important MS., containing various English poems of which no mention can be traced, in which the th is shaped like a y with the tail reversed, the initial y like the figure 3. The version of St. Austin appears to have been made at the request of certain nuns (probably those of Sion), for the translator not only in his twenty-sixth chapter addresses them as sisters, but also commences his thirty-fourth chapter with "Thankyd be almyhti god my gode sustren."

From the Bragge Collection.

— [Regulæ, cum Calendario.] [Fol. 21] Item hier beghint ðse eerwerdighe glōse heilige vader Augusti<sup>9</sup> regule ī duutsche. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xvith century of Flemish execution, very neatly written in a large missal letter, in long lines with coloured capitals, upon 62 leaves (9¼ × 7 inches). 4to, in the original binding of wooden boards covered with stamped leather with metal bosses.

The MS. opens with the Calendar, written in red and black, which occupies 38 pages. The first page of the work is decorated with a painted border, enclosing a large coloured capital B, containing in the centre a representation of the Virgin and Child at Bethlehem.

On a vellum fly-leaf at the commencement is a note in Dutch in a contemporary hand, setting forth that this book belongs to the Monastery of Bethlehem, and that it was written by Brother Herman van Doesborch of the Monastery of Pontisceli in 1537. It also states that the Monastery of Bethlehem was commenced in the year 1477. The Calendar also contains memoranda of considerable interest relating to the monastery, including the name of the founder, Pieter Claesen.

BIBLE. Biblia Sacra, versio vulgata, cum prologo Sancti Hieronymi. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xiiith century, probably of English execution, written in double columns upon 529 leaves ( $14 \times 9\frac{1}{4}$  inches), with 146 beautifully historiated capital letters and miniatures. At the beginning of the Book of Genesis is a very fine illumination in eight circular compartments, representing the Creation and the Crucifixion. There is a similar illumination in seven compartments, with figures, at the commencement of the New Testament. Folio. br. mor. g. e. (Bedford.)

— Bible Historiaus, ou les Hystores escolastres traduite en François par Guiars Des Moulins Doien de Saint Pierre D'Aire. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xvth century, of French execution, written upon 771 leaves ( $16\frac{1}{2} \times 12$  inches) and decorated with 197 splendid miniature paintings, 202 large initial letters, elegant floriated borders, and numerous capital letters, all illuminated in gold and colours. 3 vols. Folio. br. mor. g. e. (Bedford.)

This version was commenced in 1291, when the translator was 40 years of age, and finished in 1294. Three years subsequently he was elected dean. This superb manuscript was apparently executed either for a member of the family of De Peretiers, or D'Arcy, as the arms (both families having the same) are painted in the bottom compartment of the first border.

— Biblica Historia Rhythmica, Græcè, Auctore Georgio Chumno. MANUSCRIPT UPON PAPER, of the xvth century, on 136 leaves ( $10\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  inches), with 348 paintings depicting subjects in the Pentateuch, executed in colours. Sm. folio. br. mor. g. e.

This curious specimen of early Greek literature and art has never been printed. The drawings are of very great interest, differing so greatly as they do from the manner of treatment by western artists.

— Sumula seu Breviloquium de Concordia Novi et Veteris Testamenti. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xvth century, by an Italian scribe, on 76 leaves ( $11 \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  inches) ornamented with an initial letter (historiated with the Head of Christ) and 67 very curious paintings, concluding with a representation of the Last Judgment. Sm. folio.

Prefixed to this very curious MS. are 122 verses, said to have been found Anno 1343, "infra ecclesiam Sancti Sepulchri," containing remarkable prophecies.

BREVIARIUM secundum consuetudinem Romane curie. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM, of the xvth century ; the text, in two columns of 35 lines each, in characters of two sizes, is written in a very elegant Italian hand upon 255 leaves ( $5 \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  inches), with rubrics, red or blue capitals, numerous ornamental and a few historiated initials, in gold and colours. Sm. 8vo.

Part I., Kalendar and preliminary matter, and Part II., ff. 1—30, are wanting.

Part II., ff. 31—58 Psalterium, 58—188 Proprium de Tempore.

Part III., 189—264 Proprium Sanctorum, 264—286 Commune Sanctorum.

Part III. has by a mistake of the binder been placed at the head of the volume.

BREVIARIUM ad Usum Sarum, cum Calendario. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM, of the xivth century, written by an English scribe on 256 leaves ( $8 \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  inches), every page decorated with initials and capitals, many with richly illuminated borders. 4to. mor.

This valuable Breviary appears to have belonged to the Augustine Priory of St. Mary of Walsingham, in Norfolk, and at the confiscation by Henry VIII. of monastic possessions, to have become the property of the last prior, Richard Vowell, to whom at the dissolution an allowance of £100 per annum was granted. The inscription on the last leaf but one, "Iste liber pertinet Ric<sup>o</sup> Vowell Priori de Walsingham," and the concluding service, "De Sancta Maria cotidie per Annum," are indubitable evidence of the former ownership. On the fly-leaves there is much irrelevant matter in a much later handwriting, but extremely interesting, as containing important information respecting not only the social life of the monks of Walsingham, but also of its famous Wishing Wells.

"Sir Thomas More grew famous when he was not above eighteen or nineteen years of age, for his witty epigramms and other specimens of polite learning, several of which were procured and taken into the hands of many learned men, who took occasion to make some of them publick, and to speak highly in praise of the author: amongst which was Beatus Rhenanus and the eminent poet Leodgarius a Quercus. This made divers invidious persons (as excellent qualities are always attended with envy) to draw their pens against him; and amongst the rest one Brixius a German wrote a book against Sir Thomas's epigramms, which he intitled Antimorus. But it is done with so much spight and malice, and there is such a vein of ill nature running through the whole book, that Brixius's friends were ashamed of it, and they thought it sufficiently refuted itself. As soon as Erasmus saw it, he earnestly besought sir Thomas, that he would not overwhelm his friend Brixius with such an answer as his rashness deserv'd."—HEARNE'S Preface to Roper's Life of More, p. 33.

On the opposite page commence "Cantiques du Nouveau Advenement de Jesu Christ faictz en ceste annee 1598, par venerable et discret Mes Phles Hubert pbres. Regent au colege de ce lieu de nogent."

COCKERSAND REGISTER. The Coucher-book or Register of Charters of the Abbey of Cockersand, co. Lanc., written for the most part in the year of our Lord 1268, "before the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel," with some later additions. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM, written upon 165 leaves, including the fly-leaf at the end ( $11\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  inches), by an English scribe. Folio. mor.

bequeathed to Trustees of British Museum

An account of the MS. by the scribe himself is found on fol. 5 b., a translation of which is here given:—In this volume are contained all the feoffments found in our possession in the year 1267, which have been written and arranged by Frater Robert de Lacheford, who has also placed this present volume in a small chest, both for the use of younger men who may be ignorant of such instruments, and on account of the difficulty of those who inquire into them, which too often has happened. First we have the Papal privileges whether common to the Order of White Canons or peculiar to Cockersand, then the Royal Charters and Confirmations, and afterwards those of the Barons and Nobles, excepting those which are noted more fully under their provinces, as is proper. Then follow the charters of Amounderness. After those, the charters of Laylondsyre, Blakeburnesyre, and of York, also of Derbysyre, and of Makerfeld, of Salfordsyre, and of Cestresyre. Also after these, of Lannesdale and of Kendale, and at the end of the book follow those of Coupeland. The places have been arranged and empty spaces left at the end of each town of each province, so that new charters may be properly inserted as often as confirmations or settlements of suits are made, etc. These were written in 1268 before the F. of St. Michael the Archangel.

ff. 6-13 b. "Privilegia communia;" that is, charters of indulgence and privileges by various popes to Convents and Abbeys of the Premonstratensian Order in general, and to Cockersand Abbey in particular. Amongst them is the Charter of Pope Clement III., which changed the "Hospital Monastery" of Cockersand to an Abbey of the Premonstratensian Order. Dated 8 Id. Jun. 6 June, 1190.

[Dugdale says: "Cockersand was first an Hermitage, then an Hospital founded by William de Lancastre, temp. Hen. II., but about the year 1190 it was changed into an Abbey of Premonstratensian Canons.]"

[DIURNALE seu Liber Precum et Horæ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis ad usum Imperatoris Maximiliani I.] [Colophon.] Joannes Schönsperger. Ci||vis Augustanus imprime||bat. Anno Salutis.|| M. D. xiiii. [1514.] iii. Ka||lendas Ja||nuarii. Sm. Folio. Printed upon vellum. o. c. clasps.

This very beautiful volume was printed by order of the Emperor Maximilian for his own private use, and it is stated that ten copies only were struck off, and all of them upon vellum. Of these, four only are known still to exist, including the copy described above. The three other copies are preserved in the Royal Library at Munich, the Imperial Library at Vienna, and the British Museum, respectively.

A full description of this remarkable book will be found in Brunet's "Manuel du Libraire," vol. ii., col. 768.

The collation of the present copy is as follows:—

A blank leaf ruled with red border lines, 18 printed leaves, 2 blank leaves ruled with red border lines, and 139 printed leaves. In all 160 leaves. The printed leaves are ruled with red lines, not only round the page, but between each line of text, possibly with the intention of giving the book the appearance of a MS. The volume is without pagination, catchwords, or signatures, and measures 10 $\frac{7}{8}$  x 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches.

It is bound in oak boards with clasps, the original stamped calf sides being inlaid.

A comparison of this copy with that preserved in the British Museum exhibits some marked differences in the two copies ; for instance, the ornamental capital letters which occur throughout the present copy are in nearly all cases left out in the British Museum copy, and when inserted they are generally different in design ; the text is also differently set up, the alterations being very numerous ; the arrangement of some prayers is also different. It would appear from these variations that there were two editions of this book, although the colophon is the same in each copy.

EGLISE NOTRE-DAME DE LA POTERIE, BRUGES. A series of 18 drawings in pen and ink upon paper ( $11\frac{3}{4} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  inches), with a verse of 8 lines above each in Dutch. Sm. Folio. c.

"The Drawings are either the original sketches or perhaps copies for 3 pieces of tapestry manufactured early in the 16th century for the Church of Our Lady of the Potteries at Bruges. They represent a series of miracles wrought in 1495 and following years. The tapestry in 3 pieces each about 6 feet high by 21 feet long, is still preserved in the Hospice attached to the Church. The two pieces representing subjects 1-12 are well executed, the 3rd is decidedly inferior to the drawings. The Drawings may be the work of one of the nuns or of some artist employed by them. Of course there must have been cartoons of size of execution, which may or may not have been drawn by the author of the sketches."—Extract from Letter of Mr. Weale.

The subjects of the drawings as described in Mr. Weale's Catalogue of the Religious Works of Art exhibited at Mechlin in 1864, are as follows:—

1. The miraculous Image of Our Lady of the Potteries.
2. The sudden cure of a dropsical girl by the invocation of Our Lady of the Potteries.
3. A child whose arms and hands are crooked is placed by its parents under the protection of Our Lady of the Potteries, and its limbs take their natural form.
4. A blind girl on a pilgrimage to Our Lady of the Potteries has her sight restored.
5. Some sailors in great danger arrive safely at the port of Flushing after invoking the protection of Our Lady of the Potteries.
6. An inhabitant of Ypres, attacked by a hideous disease and covered with sores, makes a vow to go on a pilgrimage to Our Lady of the Potteries, and is cured.
7. A woman goes to drown herself, urged by the devil, when she is saved by Our Lady of the Potteries.
8. A child, fallen from the top of a ladder, is saved by the faith of its parents in Our Lady of the Potteries.
9. A merchant of La Rochelle afflicted with a gangrened wound, is cured on invoking Our Lady of the Potteries.
10. A fisherman of l'Ecluse, after a fervent prayer to Our Lady of the Potteries, obtains a miraculous draught of fishes.

11. A fisherman, having lost his rudder, is brought back to the port of Ostend without accident, after having invoked Our Lady of the Potteries.

12. A woman of Bruges recovers her sight.

13. A woman of Bruges, from whom all her crockery had been stolen, recovers it.

14. A woman of Bruges is cured of a frightful disease of the throat from which she is suffering.

15. Another woman of the same town is cured of a similar disease after having promised to go on a pilgrimage to Our Lady of the Potteries.

16. A child, that had swallowed an ear of corn and died, is restored to life when the parents place it under the protection of Our Lady of the Potteries.

17. Several women are happily delivered by the invocation of Our Lady of the Potteries.

18. The sick, the lame, the unhappy of all kinds are delivered of their ills.

ELDER, JOHN. The Copie of a Letter sent in to Scotlande, of the arivall and landyng, and moste noble marryage of the moste Illustre Prynce Philippe, Prynce of Spaine, to the most excellent Princes Marye Quene of England, solemnised in the Citie of Winchester: and howe he was receyved and installed at Windsore, and of his triumphyng entries in the noble Citie of London. Wherunto, is added a brefe overture or openyng of the legacion of the most reuerende father in God Lorde Cardinall Poole from the Sea Apostolyke of Rome, with the substaunce of his oracyon to the kyng and Quenes Magestie, for the reconcilement of the Realme of Englande to the unitie of the Catholyke church. With the very cōpye also of the Supplycaciō exhibited to their highnesses by the three Estates assembled in the parlamente. Wherin they representing the whole body of the Realme and dominions of the same have submitted themselves to the Popes Holynesse. Imprinted at London in Fletestrete at the signe of the Sunne over agaynst the Conduit by John Waylande. [N. d. 1555.] Sm. 8vo. Black Letter. br. mor. g. e.

A little volume of extreme rarity.

The letter is addressed to "Lord Robert Stuarde, Bishoppe of Cathenes, and pvest of Dūbritane Colledge in Scotland," and contains a most minute and interesting account of the arrival of Philip of Spain and his marriage to Queen Mary. On F. v. we find the following interesting account of "The King's forme and stature." "I can wel compare hym to John Hume my lord of Jedwarde's kinsman. Of visage he is well favored with a brod forehead, and gray iyes, streight nosed, and manly countenance. From the forehead to the point of hys chynne, hys face groweth smal: his pace is pricely, and gate so straight and upright, as he leseth no inche of his higthe, with a yeallowe head, and a yeallowe berde. And thus to conclude he is so wel proporcioned of bodi, arme, legge and every other Limme to the same, as nature cannot work a more parfite paterne. And as I have learned, of the age of xxviii yeares. Whose maiesty I iudge to bee of a stoute stomake, pregaunt witted and of most ientel nature." The next paragraph contains an interesting notice of Lord Darnley, afterwards the husband of Mary Queen of Scots, and of poems by him, he being then in his ninth year.

EUCHOLOGION. A Greek MANUSCRIPT of the xiith century, written in gilt letters upon a white vellum roll 9 feet 4 inches in length by 7½ inches broad, with a number of very pretty jewelled capital letters. It consists of a collection of prayers and hymns, chiefly by S. John Chrysostom.

Speaking of the extraordinary rarity of Greek manuscripts in letters of gold, the Hon. R. Curzon (afterwards Lord Zouche) in his "Visits to Monasteries in the Levant" says: "The very rare occurrence of a Greek Manuscript written in Letters of Gold would make it a most desirable and important acquisition to any Royal Library, for besides the two above-mentioned there are not, I believe, more than 7 or 8 MSS. of this description in existence, and of these several are merely fragments and only one is on White Vellum. This is in the Library of the Holy Synod at Moscow." He then points out that the others written on blue or purple vellum are locked up in the Vatican, British Museum, Imperial Library of Vienna, and in his own collection at Parham.

EVANGELIARIUM ad usum Ecclesiæ Orientalis Græcæ. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xiith century, written in a fine bold Greek character on 740 pages (13 × 9½ inches). 4to. In a morocco case.

The MS. opens with the Gospel of S. John, and then follow the Gospels of SS. Matthew, Mark, and Luke, arranged for reading in the Church according to the ecclesiastical year on Sundays, Festivals, and Saints' days. The first page has a heading within a richly illuminated border of fine design on a gold ground, with the emblems of the four Evangelists, and figures of birds within circles. The text begins beneath, written in letters of gold in two columns.

The Gospel of S. Matthew has a fine miniature of the Evangelist to face the first page, painted in colours on a gold ground. Over the beginning of the Gospel is a rich illuminated compartment, the title in the centre in gold capitals.

At the beginning of the Gospels of SS. Mark and Luke are also miniatures of the Evangelists with gold background and rich ornamental border opposite, with titulations in gold capitals. The headings of the different divisions are also in burnished gold, and the capital letters in colours in the Byzantine taste.

After the four Gospels are portions of the same Scriptures arranged for reading according to the months of the year.

The manuscript is entirely perfect throughout and in fine preservation, allowing for discoloration by age.

It is in the original binding of cedar-wood boards covered with goatskin, but somewhat dilapidated.

EVANGELIARIUM. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xth century, of Frankish execution, beautifully written upon 402 leaves (9½ × 6½ inches). 4to.

The text of this MS. is written in long lines, twenty to the full page. The Canons, on sixteen pages, each divided into columns by pillars united by small arches, beneath which are the nimbed heads of the winged Evangelistic symbols, except on f. 7b, where one of the pillars supports a figure of S. Matthew seated writing on a scroll, and f. 8, where the lion of S. Mark, the bull of S. Luke, and the eagle of S. John are represented entire.

The volume is adorned with five miniatures; on the pages opposite these are the first words of each Gospel written in burnished gold letters on a purple ground.

The first of the five miniatures (5½ × 4 in.) represents an abbot in alb, tunic, and ample chasuble standing, with his abbatial staff between his arms, presenting a book with both hands to an Apostle, doubtless the patron saint of his monastery. The saint, in tunic and mantle, stands at the side of an altar surmounted by a lofty ciborium; his right hand is raised to bless the donor, and his left rests on the rod to which the altar veil is suspended. On the altar, which is covered with crimson drapery, lies his Evangelarium; above is seen the right hand of God issuing from the clouds, holding the Tau and apparently blessing the gift.

The other miniatures represent, each on a burnished gold ground, one of the Evangelists seated beneath an arch supported by two pillars. In the tympana above are their symbols.

"Ce volume est curieux pour l'histoire des antiquités de Pavie et la description des reliques de son sanctuaire. On y voit qu'entre autres reliques, Pavie possédait un poil de l'âne et du bœuf de la sainte crèche. Les figures, très peu ombrées, sont d'un bon dessin et assez bien gravées." (Didot, Cat. rais., No. 356.)

Walter Hilton's "Ladder of Perfection" was at the time one of the most popular of religious treatises, and was composed by him in Sion Monastery, near Shene. In a long note prefixed Mr. Offor has given a history of the work, and informs us that this MS. is anterior to any in the British Museum. It contains also the thirde booke "of the active and contemplative life," which is known to exist in only three copies of Wynkyn de Worde's edition of 1494.

The following note respecting the Baziliologia Prints was prefixed to a selection of those portraits in the Sale Catalogue of Colonel Durrant's Collection :—

"This extremely rare and interesting Series of Portraits is esteemed the most valuable Book of Prints existing. They were originally published as separate publications, at different periods of the reigns of Elizabeth and James I., but were occasionally sold as one series, with a Title prefixed, 'Baziliologia, or a Book of Kings, being the true & lively Effigies of all our English Kings etc. London 1618.'

"So rare is this collection, that but five or six copies have been discovered, and they materially varying both in number of plates and beauty of impression. The most complete was the celebrated De la Bere volume sold by Mr. Christie, March 27, 1811, which contained 152 portraits and produced £601 15s. Another was the Fife Volume, sold by Mr. Stewart, Feb. 14, 1812, which contained 153 plates, and brought £545 5s.

"Two or three other copies have since been discovered, but with a far less number of plates. The whole of these volumes have been cut up and sold separately—the rarity, therefore, of anything like a perfect series is proportionably increased. It is to be remarked that while each of these volumes contained some fine impressions, others were very indifferent; and so are the few volumes still existing in their original form, of which there are two in the Bodleian Library (varying in the number of plates) and one in the Bibliothèque at Paris.

"They are also highly valuable in connection with the history of English Art, being the first published British Portraits, and chiefly by native artists."

Accompanying the volume described above is a copy of the Sale Catalogue of the celebrated De la Bere Collection, with the names of purchasers and the prices inserted. There is also bound up with the Catalogue a manuscript list of the portraits contained in the present collection and other memoranda.

HOMILIES. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xiiith century, written upon 180 leaves ( $7\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  inches). Sm. 4to. br. mor.

This MS. contains 228 Homilies for Sundays and Saints' Days. The first on Divine Wisdom commences: Divina Sapientia a principio duo fecit palacia.

On the last leaf is a poem of 104 lines on the shortness of this life and the vanity of the world, addressed to the students of the schools at Vercelli, commencing:

O consortes, O dilecti,
O scolares praelecti,
hunc si placet audiat
verbum vitae brevitatis.

This is followed by the epitaph of Aymo de Briancon, a Carthusian, who became Archbishop of Tarustaise in 1179 and crowned Philip of Suabia King of the Romans in 1198.

Aymo, Dei servus, pastor Darendasiensis,
Splendor honestatis reproborum flammeus ensis,
Floruit in vita flos summae nobilitatis,
Magnatum rector, regum dux, lux probitatis
Namque coronavit regem * * * Elemannum
Cum cuius regis patre transierat mare magnum
Floret et hoc tumulto fama florens meliore
Qui legit hos flores oret pro tam meliore.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis ad usum Ecclesiæ Sarisburiensis, cum Calendario. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xivth century, written upon 109 leaves ( $8\frac{7}{8} \times 6$  inches). 8vo. red velvet.

This manuscript is unquestionably of English execution, and is very remarkable in that, while the miniatures are a sad example of the declension of English miniature art in the second half of the fourteenth century, the decorative work with which the book is illuminated displays most, if not all, the excellencies of the early English school, being at once rich, varied, and gorgeous, and recalling the splendid designs of three centuries earlier. It is worthy of notice that the green which is usually a distinctive mark of English work is entirely absent in the decorative work of this beautiful volume. It opens with a Calendar which occupies twelve pages. At the bottom of the third page is written in a fifteenth century hand—

The nexte prime tel y me
þ<sup>e</sup> pyridde sūday ful y wýs
Paske day seker ys.”

In the Calendar we find: Mar. 20. St. Cuthbert. Apl. 3. St. Richard (of Chichester). June 9. Trans. of St. Edmund. June 20. Trans. of St. Edward. June 22. St. Alban. June 23. St. Ethelreda. July 15. St. Swithun. July 17. St. Kenelm. Nov. 17. St. Hugh, and other festivals which fully attest the English origin of the volume.

After the calendar follow two leaves bearing, the first on the verso, and the second on the recto, four miniatures in compartments. On the first are St. Christopher, St. George, St. Anne instructing her daughter to read, and St. Mary Magdalen. On the second St. John Baptist, St. John the Evangelist, St. Katherine, and St. Margaret. The large initial letter D is a figure of our Lady with the infant Christ, and to the right and left are depicted the portraits of the patron of the book and his wife. On folio 2 b is a miniature of the B. Virgin seated at the foot of the Cross with the Dead Body of Christ on her lap, and the Apostle St. John kneeling beside her. This is followed by the Office of our Lady of Pity. Folio 5 b. The Holy Trinity; and here again kneeling on either side are the portraits of the patron and patroness, facing which is the Annunciation; the miniatures in each case are rude, but the borders which surround them are grand pieces of design. 13 b. LEGENDARIUM Festorum Sanctorum et Feriarum Aliarum ad usum Ordinis Prædicatorum. MANUSCRIPT UPON VELLUM of the xiiith century, executed about the year 1260 for a Dominican monastery in Bavaria, written on 304 leaves ( $17 \times 12$  in.), and decorated with 60 miniatures in brilliant colours on burnished gold ground.

This grand manuscript is in perfect preservation, and forms a most important monument of German mediæval art.

The persons figured in the margins of the different miniatures were probably the persons at whose cost the particular paintings were executed, and it is quite clear that they were all living at that time.

It opens with a calendar, which occupies the first six leaves, and on the seventh begin the miniatures, which are as follows :—

1. The Crucifixion. A very fine full-page painting ( $11\frac{1}{4} \times 8$  in.). This is treated in a manner so unusual as to merit a description at some length. On the right of the crucified Saviour stands the Holy Virgin, on the left St. John. This is the usual representation; but here in front of the Virgin stands a figure with a nimbus round the head, on which is inscribed "Sponsa." This figure holds a spear which pierces the Saviour's side, whence rushes forth a stream of blood, which another figure issuing from the clouds, above whose crowned head is inscribed "Fides," catches in a chalice. On the other side of the cross stands another figure, above whose head is written "Obediencia," who drives a nail into the Saviour's feet. Opposite to "Fides," on the left of the Saviour, an angel drives down a blinded figure who represents "Synagoga," while at the top of the cross two figures, inscribed respectively "Misericordia" and "Sapiencia," drive nails into the divine hands. Outside the border of the painting are depicted the figures of a lady and a knight, above whose heads is inscribed respectively "Sophia" and "Gebhardus Comes," which no doubt represent the donors of the book to the monastery, Gebhardus, Comes de Hirtzperch and Sophia his wife, sister to Louis and Henry, Dukes of Bavaria. They were married early in 1258. In the margin of Min. 5 is figured a priest, lettered "Perhtoldus." There can be little doubt this is Berthold, who was consecrated Bishop of Wurzburg in 1267, and governed that see till 1287.

2. St. Andrew fastened to a cross with cords ( $3 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 3. St. Nicholas and the Three Children ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 4. St. Thomas pierced with Spears ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 5. The Stoning of St. Stephen ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  in.). 6. St. John the Baptist preaching to Herod ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  in.). 7. The Massacre of the Innocents ( $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 8. The Martyrdom of Thomas à Becket ( $2\frac{1}{2}$  in. square). 9. St. Prisca ( $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 10. St. Sebastian ( $3 \times 2\frac{1}{4}$  in.). 11. St. Agnes crowned by an Angel ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 12. The Death of St. Vincent ( $2\frac{3}{4}$  in. square). 13. The Conversion of St. Paul ( $4 \times 3$  in.). 14. The Presentation of Christ in the Temple ( $4\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 15. The Martyrdom of St. Agatha ( $3 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 16. The Martyrdom of St. Mathias, with Vision of the Virgin and Child ( $4 \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.). 17. St. Gregory the Great writing ( $3 \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.). 18. St. Benedict ( $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2$  in.). 19. The Annunciation of the Virgin (3 in. square). 20. St. George broken on the Wheel ( $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{7}{8}$  in.). 21. St. Mark writing his Gospel (3 in. square). 22. St. James the Great thrown from a Window, and his Crucifixion (4 in. square). 23. The Finding of the True Cross by St. Helena ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  in.). 24. Miracles at the Tomb of St. Dominic ( $3 \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.). 25. St. John the Baptist taught by his Parents ( $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3$  in.). 26. St. John the Baptist in the Desert ( $1\frac{1}{2}$  in. square). 27. St. John and St. Paul ( $2\frac{1}{4} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 28. The Martyrdom of St. Peter ( $4 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 29. The Martyrdom of St. Paul ( $4 \times 3$  in.). 30. St. John in the Cauldron, the Holy Spirit descending upon him ( $4\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  in.). 31. St. Mary Magdalen and the Saviour ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$  in.). 32. The Beheading of the Apostle St. James ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$  in.). 33. St. Pantaleon tied to a Tree and Beheaded, the Virgin and Child appearing to him in the clouds ( $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 34. The Vision of St. Dominic ( $4\frac{1}{8} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 35. The Martyrdom of St. Lawrence ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 36. The Death of the Blessed Virgin Mary ( $3\frac{1}{2}$  in. square). 37. St. Bernard holding a Book and a Pastoral Staff ( $4 \times 3$  in.). 38. St. Bartholomew. A very fine figure, holding a church in his left hand ( $4\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.). This saint is especially distinguished by having his intitution in large letters of burnished gold; and when it is remembered that Andrew II. of Hungary brought from Jerusalem the arm of St. Bartholomew, it is probable that the relic was deposited in the monastery for which this book was written. 39. St. Augustine delivering his Rule to the Monks ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  in.). 40. The Daughter of Herodias with the Head of St. John the Baptist in a Charger ( $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 41. The Nativity of the Blessed Virgin ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 42. The Crucifixion of our Lord ( $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 43. St. Euphemia with the Martyr's Palm ( $2\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 44. St. Matthew pierced by the Swords of two Executioners ( $3\frac{1}{2}$  in. square). 45. The Martyrdom of St. Maurice and his Disciples ( $5 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 46. The Dragon overcome by St. Michael ( $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 47. St. Francis receiving the Holy Stigmata from the Seraphic Crucifix ( $3\frac{1}{2}$  in. square). 48. The Martyrdom and Miracle of St. Denis ( $3 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 49. St. Luke limning the Portrait of the Blessed Virgin ( $3\frac{1}{2}$  in. square). 50. The Martyrdom of St. Simon Zelotes ( $3 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.).

51. The Festival of All Saints. A magnificent full-page painting ( $12 \times 7$  in.), in seven compartments. That at the top represents Christ in glory; on His right sit His mother, St. Peter and other saints, on the left a party of angels, the foremost of whom holds a flaming heart in the right hand and a spear in the left. In the left-hand compartment beneath, an angel conducts a company of the faithful to the gate of heaven, while in the right compartment sit Moses and the lawgivers on a bench. The fourth compartment represents St. Barnabas and a company of preachers; the fifth, Isaac and the other patriarchs; the sixth, St. Clare and other holy virgins; and the seventh, St. Rupert (who was held in great reverence in Bavaria) and a party of bishops. In the margin at the bottom is a kneeling figure of St. Margaret of Hungary, daughter of Bela IV. and granddaughter of Andrew II., Kings of Hungary. She became a Dominican nun at Vesprimii, and was afterwards at a convent in the Insula Leporum, or of St. Mary, near Buda, and was probably the founder or patroness of the monastery to which the MS. belonged. On the opposite side is a kneeling figure of an ecclesiastic lettered "Prepositus Heinrich de Oting." This is Henry Steoro, a monk of the Præmonstratensian Abbey of Nieder-Altaich on the Danube, diocese of Passau, and chaplain of Abbot Herman, after whose death he became Provost of Oetingen. He died after 1276.

52. The Company of the Blessed in the bosom of the Eternal Father. A most curious representation ( $3\frac{1}{2}$  in. square). 53. St. Martin dividing his Cloak with the Beggar ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 54. The Death of St. Elizabeth ( $4 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 55. St. Cecilia crowned by an Angel ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 56. St. Clement thrown into the Sea from a Boat ( $2\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 57. The Martyrdom and Assumption of St. Catherine ( $4\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 58. The Blessed Virgin with the Infant Jesus ( $3\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  in.). 59. The Death of St. Peter Martyr ( $3 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). 60. St. Erhard of Ratisbon ( $3\frac{1}{2}$  in. square).

The only other copy of this MS. known to exist is preserved in Westminster Abbey, and its date is coeval with this, the writing and the illumination of the first page being evidently by the same hand. It opens with directions for fitting up Westminster Abbey for the Coronation ceremony, and then goes on to say that on the day preceding the Coronation the King shall ride bareheaded from the Tower of London to the Palace of Westminster that he may be recognized of all people. The ritual of the King's coronation ends on the thirty-fifth page and is followed on the thirty-seventh by the Coronation ceremony of the King and Queen together. In this service it is worthy of remark that the King and Queen received the communion in both kinds.

The volume is accompanied by a complete modern translation of the whole very neatly written in a folio volume.
